Wrinkle Relaxers

Wrinkle relaxers are used to stop the movement of muscles in the face to varying degrees. This gives the overlying skin the chance to rest and improve the appearance of expression lines. Static lines that are present at rest may require multiple treatments or be coupled with dermal fillers for best results.

Due to strict advertising guidelines, we cannot name the brand of wrinkle relaxers we use as they are classed as a Schedule 4, prescription only medication. We offer two brands – Type 1 and Type 2.

Type 1 is $10 per unit and Type 2 is $4.50 per unit. You need a larger dosage of Type 2 to have the same effect as Type 1, therefore the price overall is very similar.

The amount of units needed will depend on areas treated, muscle strength and desired outcomes. Our practitioners will discuss this with you at your appointment, as well as give exact costing for your treatment.

The results can last up to 3-4 months, depending on several factors. A free of charge follow up appointment is recommended 2 weeks post treatment.

Wrinkle relaxers can be used in several areas including:

- Forehead
- Frown Lines
- Crow's Feet

Dermal Fillers

Fillers are used to plump out deeper lines or add volume and fullness to a variety of areas. They are made from a naturally occurring complex sugar. This is naturally metabolised by the body. The longevity of the product depends on the product, the amount used, and an individual's metabolic rate.

Dermal fillers can treat volume loss and fine lines in many areas of the face, including:

- Lips
- Cheeks
- Jawline
- Chin
- Non-surgical Rhinoplasty
- Tear Troughs

PDO Mono Threads

Mono threads are single smooth threads that are placed under the skin to stimulate the cells to produce collagen and elastin, in turn tightening the skin, improving sagging tissue and facial contours. The threads are made from PDO (polydioxanone), the same material used in surgery to close wounds. They dissolve over time stimulating collagen and elastin production and strengthen the surrounding tissue, achieving a tightening effect. A few months after treatment clients feel a refreshed and voluminous effect as the skin feels and appears tighter and firmer.
